

More Top Stories

Girl Who Could Have Had Her Cake and Eaten It Too Unfortunately on Atkins Diet

Fight Club Totally Beats the Shit Out of Nonviolence Club

'Not Fucking A Slutty Hot Chick' To Top Obama's 2010 Agenda

WASHINGTON DC — In the wake of an exhausting health care battle, pundits could be forgiven for thinking Barack Obama would be content to rest on his laurels for much of the new year. Instead, the President laid out a broad, sweeping vision for 2010, establishing not fucking a slutty hot chick as his top domestic priority.

"This comes at a critical time for our nation, when many folks are angry, and many folks are fed up, and many folks are sick and tired of their leaders not performing up to par in this area," he said, appearing to reference the recent string of bad news for slutty-hot-chick-fucker Tiger Woods.

"But I'm here to tell you today, from one American to another, that we have heard your voices,

Obama takes on the tough issues.

and we are going to do something about it."

Like health care, the problem has been notoriously thorny for past presidents. Bill Clinton tried to tackle the not fucking a slutty hot chick issue during his time in office and wasn't able to deliver. But Obama hopes that by focusing on the specifics and taking things one day at a time, he will succeed where others have failed.

"We'd like to accomplish this through a series of executive orders without getting Congress involved," said Obama, expressing his fear that the vocal Republican minority could get in the way of his efforts to not fuck a slutty hot chick.

"But if we have to legislate, we will legislate," he announced to loud cheers. "We will get through this, get through it once and for all to make a better world for our children. A world where they can coexist peacefully with slutty hot chicks and not worry that their dads are fucking them."

stanfordflipside.com

White People Around the Country Unsure If It's OK to Eat Fried Chicken on MLK Day

Every year on Martin Luther King Day, white people across the country debate the acceptability of consuming fried chicken on a holiday held in honor of one of the nation's great African Americans.

At the local KFC, the conversation is lively. One white local, Bobby H, described his feelings: "I like fried chicken any day, and I know that there's that stereotype that black people like it. But I don't think that should matter, just because it's MLK's birthday. Or should it?"

His white friend interjected, "I wouldn't hesitate to pick up a 3-pack from KFC any other day. But today it just feels a little weird."

Some white people walking by the KFC scowled. Said one passerby, "It's just not very sensitive to African Americans on Martin Luther King Day for us to enjoy fried chicken, especially since it started as a meal for slaves that could be prepared cheaply while disguising the taste of old meat."

White person at KFC on MLK day

The one black person in the KFC seemed unaware of this hot-button issue that surfaces annually. After having the controversy explained to him, he said, "No dude, we really don't care. Do white people actually think we care?"

Most of the chicken-craving white customers reached the same sensible compromise: buying a 3-pack but eating it quickly and with shame. (Michael Brandt)

Opinion: I Never Said Any of These Things

I am disgusted. Everywhere I go these days, I find that any comment anybody makes that even has the slightest hint of being sexually charged is quoted as having come from my mouth. This is defamation to the highest degree. I am in a healthy, monogamous relationship.

By She

I teach elementary school children and donate to charities that feed hungry children in Zimbabwe. But everywhere I go, I am hounded by allegations that paint me as some kind of kinky, no-standards, two-bit whore.

I was walking down my street last night and I saw my neighbor Neil walking his dog. The dog said "Ruff", and Neil looked at me, laughed, and said, "That's what she said." I went to a restaurant and I said to my waiter, "I'd like some extra cream sauce with my Italian sausage," and he has the nerve to laugh and say, "That's what she said."

Even my own students, my kindergarteners, have not been sheltered from these rumors. This is a failure not only on the part of their parents, but also on the part of society as a whole. I feel utterly disrespected, and am calling for immediate action. Congress must levy a fine on anybody who utters those four hurtful words so that I can be compensated for the damages that have been done to me. If no law is passed within the next three months, I can assure you that I will be visiting the office of every single congressman, and I will not stop moaning and crying until they scream, "YES!" (Eric Karpas)

THE FLIPSIDE PUZZLE CHALLENGE: solve the rebus puzzle, jumble, and cryptogram and email your answers to flipside@stanford.edu. The FIRST person to send in their answer this week will win a sweet Flipside shot glass!
Last Weeks Winners: Puzzle Challenge: Alex Valderrama

QUOTE: "THAT" -- SHE

REBUS PUZZLES

Can you guess the common word or phrase portrayed below?

last weeks answers: JET PLANE, NO I IN TEAM, PRESENT TENSE, SOCK-EYE BOMB

NUMBERS

92

The number of people that Trancos managed to fit in a small 7 seater minivan. This subsequently led to their arrest and removal from the van, but was mostly hailed as a miracle of science. How they did it no one will ever be sure, but many argue that if Stanford students put their mind to it, they can do anything. Other possible explanations are just that super-human events seem to happen on dorm ski trips. All anyone knows for certain is that Trancos has now joined the ranks of notorious social clubs like Kappa and Kappa Sig.

CRYPTOGRAM CHALLENGE

This is a simple substitution code. Each letter is replaced by a different letter. Try to decode the message or quote below. HINT K=L

RY XLVXIO WG R NRY ADC OXKKG PCH R GWNVKX ODWYU WY R SCYMHGXB ARP
 WY GHSD R MRGDWCY RG OC NREX PCH ODWYE ODX SCYMHGWCY WG PCHI CAY
 MRHKO. - AWKKWRN SRGOKX

LAST WEEK'S ANSWER: IF AN ELDERLY BUT DISTINGUISHED SCIENTIST SAYS THAT SOMETHING IS POSSIBLE, HE IS ALMOST CERTAINLY RIGHT; BUT IF HE SAYS THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE, HE IS VERY PROBABLY WRONG. - ARTHUR C. CLARKE

SUDOKU

Level: Like a Rock

Fill in the grid so each column, row, and 3x3 box has the numbers 1 through 9.

7			5
8	9			1
		5				6	3
	5		4	1				2
4			7	8				6
6			2	3			4
	8	6				9
				7			1	4
					9			5

SUDOKU PROVIDED BY SUDOKU-PUZZLES.NET

Note: All names and stories are fictional, unless public figures are being satirized. Remember, these are all jokes. To contact us, email flipside@stanford.edu. For more information and more content, visit stanfordflipside.com.

JUMBLE

Unscramble these four ordinary jumbles, and use the letters in circles to answer the final question.

WHAT THE BOOKIE CALLED HIS STRONGEST WAGER

LAST WEEKS ANSWERS: KNELT WOULD BEYOND REVOLT how they described the perfectly cooked steak WELL DONE

President: Jeremy Keeshin * Vice President: Zach Galant * Managing Editor: Adam Adler
 * Layout :Andy Lesser * Photo Editor: Wyatt Roy * Copy Editor: Stephanie Weber