

HEADLINES

Stanford Celebrates Orange Bowl Victory By Getting Rid of Top Coach

New Edition of Huckleberry Finn Will Eliminate Offensive Words Like Huckleberry

Stanford Tells Students: 'Shut the Luck Up'

Stanford quarterback Andrew Luck has announced that he will stay with the school to play his redshirt junior year. However, Stanford has other plans for Luck. The school has just mandated "Operation Shut the Luck Up," a school-wide program to prevent Luck from ever leaving the school.

After the Stanford football team failed to keep Toby Gerhart from entering the NFL, the school is instituting a lockdown on Andrew Luck. "By keeping Luck as quarterback for another 5, 10 or even 20 years, we can ensure that the Stanford football legacy will continue," said Bob Bowsby, the Stanford director of athletics.

His professors have been warned that they must fail Luck in any future classes he takes, ^{Movie poster for 127} to prevent him from graduating. ^{Minutes.} If students see Luck around campus, they are instructed to jump and pin him down until a school official can arrive. Students are cautioned that Luck is powerful and may try to defend himself. If you think you see Luck, please press the red button on one of the many white emergency towers located on main travel routes around campus or please call the hotline (800)-SHUTLUCK. (Collison)

President Hennessy announces the new 'Shut the Luck Up' policy at a conference in memorial Auditorium. Here Hennessy is holding a Luck model to demonstrate the policy.

Harbaugh Announces He Will Leave Stanford to Coach High School Football

In a recent press conference, Jim Harbaugh announced that he will be leaving Stanford to pursue "a deal he just couldn't pass up."

This deal was a five-year $30,000 contract with Northern Pines High School in Edgewood, Missouri.

"It's here I feel that I can make the most impact," Harbaugh said in the press conference. "I will also get the chance to teach 3rd and 5th period gym classes, which is something I've wanted for a long time."

Others involved question Harbaugh's motives, saying he is only doing it for the money and to hit on high school cheerleaders.

OP-ED: THERE WILL BE MANY MORE BOWL GAMES, BUT ONLY ONE FIRST DAY OF WINTER QUARTER 2011.

They say everybody does things they regret. That statement has never rang truer than it does now, now as I'm flying on the plane home from Miami, wondering what might have been. Sure, going to the orange bowl was the sensible thing to do, but there are certain opportunities that only come knocking once in a lifetime and I just let one walk away without even answering the door.

I spent most of the game eagerly checking my cell phone to see if any of my friends who had stayed would happen to text and give me updates on what was going on back at school: Maybe the bookstore was crowded, maybe they were serving tamales at Stern...anything. Anything tangible that would 'take me there'. And I did get a few texts, with most saying that they were in the sky box watching the Orange Bowl, and sarcastically adding how 'jealous' they were. I too was watching the Orange Bowl, but as far as the camaraderie and good-spirits that can only come with eating pizza and watching a big football game on TV with your friends...well, I would just have to do without those.

So I tell you now: Learn from my mistakes. If something amazing comes your way that probably won't come your way again, just "Don't just picture the eager faces of your friends in line at the post office: be there."

do it. Don't just picture the eager faces of your friends in line at the post office: be there. Don't just imagine the thrill of wandering around the quad trying to figure out where your PWR II class is: live it. Don't do as I ended up doing: cheering till my throat hurt, partying deep into the south Florida night, thinking of opportunities come and gone and memories lost. Life's just too short. (Driscoll)

THE FLIPSIDE PUZZLE CHALLENGE IS NOW ONLINE!

Go to stanfordflipside.com to submit your answers to the puzzle challenge. The first solver will win a Flipside shot glass!

Last time's winner: Jonathan Tran

QUOTE: "When do we get a special themed Flipside issue about us?" -Number one ranked women's water polo team

REBUS PUZZLES

Can you guess the common word or phrase portrayed below?

door door
door door

vision vision vision vision vision
vision vision vision vision vision
vision vision vision vision vision
vision vision vision vision vision

vision vision vision vision vision
vision vision vision vision vision
vision vision vision vision vision
vision vision vision vision vision

H1N1 the driving

last time's answers: TOOLBOX, HEAVY DRINKER, TALE OF TWO CITIES, TECTONIC PLATES

NUMBERS

40-12

The final score, measured in games, of the Connect Four tournament held between sophomore Janet Stevens of Toyon Hall and freshman Bill Roberts of Arroyo on January 3, 2011. Students around campus were heard joyfully shouting this score until the wee hours of the morning.

May we kindly suggest that you consider visiting stanfordflipside.com?

CRYPTOGRAM CHALLENGE

This is a simple substitution code. Each letter is replaced by a different letter. Try to decode the message or quote below. HINT W = E

SC AMYI PKWWJ XIWK'Z FIWWK RA ZVW WKN MC ZVW NXA, AMY MYFVZ
ZM JWISMYJGA IW-WOXUSKW AMYI GSCW. -RSGG LXZZWIJMK

LAST TIME'S ANSWER: IF YOU HAVE BUILT CASTLES IN THE AIR, YOUR WORK NEED NOT BE LOST; THAT IS WHERE THEY SHOULD BE. NOW PUT THE FOUNDATIONS UNDER THEM. -HENRY DAVID THOREAU

FLIPSIDE TSHIRT

Each week we will feature the design of a limited edition t-shirt. This weeks design is available on a white shirt or tank in all sizes for $5. Find someone on the Flipside, or contact flipside@stanford.edu to purchase.

The Stanford Flipside is a weekly satirical newsletter. Our stories are fictional, but we make jokes about real issues. Our goal is not to offend you, but to make you laugh and to reframe our world to point out the absurdities. Anyone is free to join the Flipside, and we would love to have you! We meet Tuesdays at 9pm to brainstorm. Contact flipside@stanford.edu for more information.

JUMBLE

Unscramble these four ordinary jumbles, and use the letters in circles to answer the final question.

THE JELLY THAT COMES FROM WITHIN AN OYSTER

EEVAL
○ □ □ □ ○

SILJA
○ ○ □ □ □

MOXISA
○ □ □ □ □ ○

PRUBEM
□ □ □ ○ □ ○

○ ○ ○ ○ ○

○ ○ ○

LAST TIME'S ANSWERS: SCUBA, ARBOR, BAKERY, TARGET what they called the grizzly with its fur shaved off BARE BEAR

Editorial Board: Jeremy Keeshin, Zach Galant, Adam Adler, Laney Kuenzel, Eric Karpas, Brendan Weinstein, Stephanie Weber, Brendan O'Byrne