

HEADLINES

Please read:
A personal appeal from Wikipedia Author Gisele Bu

Welcome to Wikipedia,
the free encyclopedia that anyone can edit.
3,814,640 articles in English

Today's featured article

Saturn is the sixth planet from the Sun and the second largest in the Solar System, after Jupiter, with an average radius about nine times that of the Earth's. Saturn is named after the Roman god Saturn, god

Wikipedia Finally Uses Attractive Person to Raise Money

Apple Introduces Telephone Service For iPad

STANFORD FLIPSIDE HITS 100

Friends and relatives gathered to celebrate the 100th issue of the increasingly senile Stanford Flipside this week, mainly stemming from a sense of obligation due to the significance of the event. Though the Flipside is years removed from its glory days of Obama bailout package innuendo jokes and Bed Intruder YouTube references, party guests still felt obligated to pay their respects to the formerly-funny fake news source.

After welcoming its guests, The Flipside, heavily medicated after dual hip-and-rebus-puzzle-replacement surgery last week, napped throughout most of the event. Since the surgery, the Flipside has mainly been reduced to using a Segway to get around the house.

The Flipside: a shadow of its former glory.

"Its getting sad at this point," expressed longtime friend of the Flipside and bored Stern lunchtime diner Steven Johnson, "Its just the same old jokes and stories over and over again. Andrew Luck, Four Loko, Rick Perry...repeat."

Younger generations have also expressed concern for the Flipside's less-than-progressive social commentaries.

"I don't want to say the Flipside is racist per se," tentatively explained freshman Judith Williams, "But it seems to make a lot of off-color references about blacks and gays that make everyone a little uncomfortable."

The event concluded when the Flipside rose to halfhearted chanting of "speech, speech" and angrily called the Stanford Daily "a bunch of liberal jackasses," not realizing that the Daily was sitting a few seats away. The rant abruptly ended when the Flipside got up to pee for the seventh time that night. (Hoff'er)

Ralph Castro Just Needs a Drink

After the record number of alcohol transports this fall and the complete failure of the university alcohol policy, Ralph Castro, director of the Office of Alcohol Policy and Education (OAPE), has been getting a little depressed.

"Honestly, can someone just get me a glass of whiskey right now," said Castro, who paced around his dark office, visibly stressed, and with beads of sweat on his brow. "This whole OAPE thing has just been a disaster."

In the recent weeks, Castro has reportedly been on a drinking binge. According to co-workers, he has been showing up late to work, disheveled and half dressed, and speaking incoherently.

"I think Ralph has been out of the social zone for quite some time now," said OAPE associate and heavy drinker Laura Hector. "He's just always the one puking at office parties, and making off-color comments at student presentations. I always end up holding his hair when he's bent over the toilet."

"Fuck the social zone!" exclaimed Castro to a dorm full of freshmen. "What is that, 2 shots? Are you kidding me? Let's go, how about a round of shots for everyone, this is college!"

CREATIVE WRITING STUDENT DESCRIBES OWN SHORT STORY AS "HEMINGWAY-ESQUE"

Students present in Creative Fiction Writing last Tuesday report that, while participating in a peer review session, sophomore Thomas Sutton described his short story as "Hemingway-esque." He explained that his narrative entitled "Nightfall in Cleveland" exhibited traits such as "terse prose" and "a penetrating examination of masculinity" reminiscent of the great American modernist.

Sutton's peers didn't share his assessment, noting his story lacked any semblance of plot and was riddled with grammatical errors.

"The dialogue sounded like if the characters from Leave it to Beaver had strokes and then tried to freestyle rap," said classmate Tina Wellstone, "And someone should probably tell him how similes work. I actually shuddered a little when I read, "The tree was as tall as a 50 foot building."

Sutton says he plans to submit the story to a publication on campus and, if things go well, some higher profile literary journals.

"I just hope people get it," said the sophomore, referring to his seven page "portrait of modern America," "So many great writers are never appreciated in their lifetime." (Do'herty)

Every Friday is Flipside Friday. 12:30-2pm, Ride the Segway in White Plaza!
www.stanfordflipside.com

ENTER THE FLIPSIDE PUZZLE CHALLENGE!

Go to stanfordflipside.com to submit your answers to the puzzle challenge. The first solver will win a Flipside shot glass!

Congratulations to last week's winner: Eric Hallett

QUOTE: "We're back to being a fútbol school." - President John Hennessy on the Women's Soccer National Title

REBUS PUZZLES

Can you guess the common word or phrase portrayed below?

last week's answers: MAIN QUAD, EXPANDABLE, HEISMAN, GOLD-LOCKS AND THE THREE BEARS

NUMBERS

31

The minimum ACT score you need to be a professional cheater/ACT substitute test taker. Also, the maximum age you can be to pull this stunt off. If interested, please move to the city in The Great Gatsby, start making fake IDs, and then charge $3,000 per test. Worried that cheating may stop you from getting into Stanford? Just call it a start up and write your essay about the "entrepreneurial spirit."

Interested in standardized testing?

Go to: stanfordflipside.com

CRYPTOGRAM CHALLENGE

This is a simple substitution code. Each letter is replaced by a different letter. Try to decode the message or quote below. HINT V = T

YV YK EWV MWTVG DE YEVBRRYLBEV JDE'K VYJB VW OB YE VGB
JDSWTYVN. ON IBZYEYVYWE, VGBTB DTB DRTBDIN BEWCLG UB-
WURB VW IW VGDV. -L.G. GDTIN

LAST WEEK'S ANSWER: WHOEVER WANTS MUSIC INSTEAD OF NOISE, JOY INSTEAD OF PLEASURE, SOUL INSTEAD OF GOLD, CREATIVE WORK INSTEAD OF BUSINESS, PASSION INSTEAD OF FOOLERY, FINDS NO HOME IN THIS TRIVIAL WORLD OF OURS. -HERMANN HESSE

FLIPSIDE TSHIRT

Each week we will feature the design of a limited edition t-shirt for $10. Flipside Logo on the back. To order a shirt, email flipside@stanford.edu with what size you want. Heat press + Vinyl = High Quality T-Shirt

The Stanford Flipside is a weekly satirical newsletter. Our stories are fictional, but we make jokes about real issues. Our goal is not to offend you, but to make you laugh and to reframe our world to point out the absurdities. Anyone is free to join the Flipside, and we would love to have you! We meet Tuesdays at 9pm to brainstorm. Contact flipside@stanford.edu for more information.

JUMBLE

Unscramble these four ordinary jumbles, and use the letters in circles to answer the final question.

LAST WEEK'S ANSWERS: MATCH SWAYS PLURAL THUMBS what the famous musician kept in his house to show off his prestige STATUS CYMBAL

Editorial Board: Jeremy Keeshin, Zach Galant, Adam Adler, Laney Kuenzel, Eric Karpas, Roxy Carbonell, Conor Doherty Puzzle Master: Laney Kuenzel