Bin Laden Receives Both Criticism And Praise For Porno Stash

US military officials recently revealed that they had found a large archive of pornography in Osama bin Laden's compound.

Analysts say this development will likely tarnish bin Laden's image within the predominantly conservative terrorist organizations.

Aalam Bashir, a fur merchant from Pakistan, was especially disappointed in bin Laden.

"I had no problem when he killed thousands of innocents and started a new era of wars," said Bashir. "But looking at hot coeds urinating in public is absolutely unforgivable. I am now convinced bin Laden was not a good man."

In spite of the general sense of outrage, not everyone has reacted negatively to the discovery of Osama's porn stash.

"Wow! Just wow! He has every single volume of Nasty Burka Babes!" said Navy Seal David Barry. "He even has an original, uncut copy of Sati Akram's masterpiece, IEDesires of an Infidel, in both its hardcore and softcore versions."

"Never before have I been so aroused by the interplay of shrapnel and bondage," he added.

In addition to popular series like Quranchy Caliphs, and its popular spin-off Sultry Sultans, US investigators found an early cut of an untitled film in which two female insurgents make out with each other in front of a burning American flag and wrestle, naked, in its ashes. Bin Laden's collection also featured a fairly extensive gay porn collection, including such films as Ramadongs and Osama sin Laden: The Annals of a Terrorist Leader.

The search for bin Laden's dignity is still ongoing. (Evans)

Tooth Fairy Wanted For Over Three Million Counts of Breaking and Entering

In light of Osama bin Laden's recent demise, speculation had been swirling as to who would take his place on the FBI's Most Wanted List. Anticipation was dispelled at a press conference last Tuesday when FBI agents revealed the identity of America's new primary target: the long-time black-market criminal and habitual trespasser who is known mostly by her alias, "the Tooth Fairy."

According to FBI reports, the Tooth Fairy has been active within the United States and American territories for several decades. She is especially known for her ruthless bartering on the black market, often exchanging petty change for her victim's deciduous teeth. She is currently a primary suspect in nearly 3.6 million cases of forced entry, trespassing on private property, and flying in US airspace without FAA clearance. In fact, her victims claim that she is so stealthy, its almost as if she doesn't really exist.

US Treasury officials have also been eager to bring the felonious fairy to justice, due to the financial implications of many of her schemes. "The US Treasury Department can easily control the printing of new currency at their mints in order to control inflation," explained financial analyst Jim Davis, "But with the Tooth Fairy's seemingly arbitrary introduction of currency into the economy, it throws off the balance that the Treasury Secretary works carefully to perfect." In recent years, the Tooth Fairy's ability to conjure US currency has been blamed for increased inflation and the devaluation of the US Dollar in international exchange rates.

Any information that could lead to the discovery or capture of the Tooth Fairy should be reported to local authorities immediately. She was last seen wearing a sequin dress, and is mostly known for breaking into houses that contain prepubescent children. (Hoffer)

Against All Odds, Crothers Resident and Slav Resident Maintain Long Distance Relationship

In one of the greatest feel-good stories of the twenty-first century, Crothers resident Lori Scone and Slav resident Jack Holloway are managing what many have called "an almost-impossible" long distance relationship. Despite being on different sides of Campus Drive and only managing to see each other once every several months, Lori and Jack are finding a way to make it work. "It's been really hard, but ultimately it's tested us and made our relationship grow stronger," said Lori. "And it just makes the times we do see each other that much better." Lori's closest friend Alicia Sagan has seen the relationship prosper from its early days. "I don't know how they do it. I know they Skype every now and then and send texts to each other during the day ... but she makes such a sacrifice for him. This long distance relationship really takes her out of the campus social scene, and I just don't know how she resists on-campus temptation. I mean, have you ever been to the Crothers Barbecue?
